

Readiness Checklist

Using Data for Board Decision Making

Is your board ready to talk about what data measure whether you have reached your goals? Take a moment to find out.

Answer: Yes / No / Find Out!

We have data on student performance related to our goals.

We examine our data by gender, race and socio-economics to measure success of all students.

We expect our superintendent to use our student achievement data to plan staff development and to reward teacher and staff performance.

We have an assessment program that is based on district standards.

Our assessment program has multiple measures, not just a single high-stakes test.

Assessment data are provided to teachers and principals in a format that can be used to make informed instructional decisions.